What is backlit fabric?

These backlit fabric graphics are printed on our cutting-edge Ultra Hybrid LED printer, not only does it deliver impeccable quality, it has long-lasting LED lighting mounted behind the fabric image. This will illuminate and showcase the art, graphics, logo or message being displayed, but it also champions sustainability with its eco-friendly features.

Why choose backlit fabric led light boxes?

Elevate your presence in exhibitions and retail stores with our outstanding stretch fabric light box displays.

Crafted with precision, each light box is custom-made to seamlessly integrate into your space, whether it's enhancing your in-store ambiance or captivating audiences as part of a striking window display. We offer a versatile range of mounting options, allowing you to choose from wall-mounted, free-standing, or ceiling-mounted configurations.

Our commitment to customisation ensures that every detail is tailored to your specific requirements. What sets our stretch fabric light boxes apart is the brilliance of our full-colour printing. Immerse your audience in a vibrant visual experience, as the LED illumination within the unit adds a stunning brightness that's ideal for both daylight and night time use.

But that's not all; The versatility of light boxes extends beyond aesthetics. They offer ample space for advertising, making them practical tools to sell products, enhance retail outlets, and reinforce brand images. What's more, our fabric graphics are easily changeable, allowing you to refresh your displays effortlessly – in a matter of minutes.

And let's not forget the modern advantages of LED lighting – not only is it safer, producing no heat like conventional lighting, but it's also energy-efficient. At ARC, we merge cutting-edge technology with our commitment to quality, ensuring your displays are both impactful and environmentally conscious.

Choose ARC UK for a dynamic blend of customer-focused service and made-to-order stretch fabric and backlit fabric light box displays. Illuminate your space with confidence and impact – because with ARC, your enquiry is our priority.
